

Problem	Fix	Principle
	We have to create a separation between the background and the contents that we need to focus on. The background caught my eye first	Focal Point Principle
	I was hoping to see a navbar. The logo, name, navlinks, quick links all should be on the same line.	Continuity
	These belong to the same group so I hoped to see them together in a consistent manner.	Proximity
	There is no pattern or consistency.	Symmetry and Order
	I think the calendar itself should have had a scrolling effect so that when it is in focus, the user doesn't have to scroll up and down to get the whole context.	—
